

Digital Accessibility Statement for InPlace

This accessibility statement applies to InPlace.

InPlace is provided by QuantumIT on behalf of the University of Huddersfield. We want as many people as possible to be able to use this website. For example, you should be able to:

- change colours, contrast levels and fonts
- zoom in up to 300% without the text spilling off the screen
- navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- navigate most of the website using speech recognition software
- listen to most of the website using a screen reader (including the most recent versions of JAWS, NVDA and VoiceOver)

We've also made the website text as simple as possible to understand. AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability.

How accessible this website is

We are currently establishing our own testing roadmap for InPlace. We are aware that significant parts of this platform may not be fully accessible.

You may encounter issues with:

- Keyboard Navigation: It can be difficult to tell where you have navigated to when using a keyboard (focus is not always visible). Keyboard navigation is not regular or reliable on the platform.
- Magnification: Pages will not reflow when magnified, meaning you may have to scroll both horizontally and vertically to read content.
- Colour Contrast: Not all text and user interface components (such as icons) meet the required contrast levels, making them difficult to see.
- Pop-ups: Some pop-up windows may appear without warning, which can be disorienting for screen reader users.
- Screen Reader Compatibility: Some information is not conveyed in a format screen readers can read. Additionally, icons lack alternative text descriptions.
- Tooltips: Tooltips may disappear as soon as the cursor moves, or be missing entirely for some icons.
- Colour Usage: Some information may be conveyed using colour alone.
